Art Unit: 3765

Claims 16, 18-20, 32-35 and 37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being anticipated by Barthold et al (US 6,032,297).

As shown in figures 1, Barthold et al (US 6,032,297) teaches the invention as claimed including a firefighter's helmet comprising an inner protective shell having an outer layer (14) of impact-resisting plastics and an inner-impact-resisting layer(18), the inner protective shell is capable of being worn on its own when the user is attending an incident other than a structural fire given that the outer shell (12) is readily removable via elements (retaining clip members 42), and an outer shell (12) adapted to fit over the inner protective shell and to be retained thereon, the outer shell being more extensive (see figure 1) than the inner protective shell so as to cover substantially the whole inner shell to protect the user against structural firefighting risks, and being configured to be fitted to and removed from the inner protective shell by the user whilst wearing the inner shell (via clips 42). Note elements (34) act as spacer elements.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 17, 21-26, 29, 36, 38, 41 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Barthold et al (US 6,032,297) in view of Rosie (US 6,961,963).

Barthold et al (US 6,032,297) teaches the invention substantially as claimed as indicated above except for the specific two position retaining means as claimed. Rosie teaches a two layer helmet which includes a two position retainer means (biased tab system 70'). It would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to substitute a two positioned biased tab system for the retaining clip system for the individual helmet layers of Barthold et al (US 6,032,297) since such a two position is a well know retaining system as shown by Rosie and since it would allow for positive engagement and disengagement of the elements absent any unexpected results.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 27, 28, 30, 31, 39, 40, 42 and 43 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to the claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
